Dear Chairmen Cochran and Rogers, and Ranking Members Mikulski and Lowey:

The 55 undersigned members of the Health Professions and Nursing Education Coalition (HPNEC) write to encourage you to support our original FY 2017 request of $524 million for the Health Resources and Services Administration (HRSA)’s Title VII health professions and Title VIII nursing workforce development programs. As you complete negotiations on the FY 2017 Labor-HHS-Education spending bill, we urge you to provide, at a minimum, the FY 2016 funding levels for each program in Titles VII and VIII, including the Health Careers Opportunity Program (HCOP).

HPNEC is an alliance of national organizations representing schools, programs, health professionals, and students dedicated to ensuring the health care workforce is trained to meet the needs of our diverse population. HRSA’s Title VII health professions and Title VIII nursing workforce development programs are the only federally-funded programs that seek to improve the supply, distribution, and diversity of the health professions workforce, with a focus on primary care and interdisciplinary training.

Your support for all Title VII and VIII programs is critical as budget cuts threaten to reverse progress made in mitigating the nation’s health care workforce challenges. We recognize the difficult budget environment you face; however, the relatively modest investments in these programs produce a disproportionate positive return by strengthening our health care workforce. For example, continued funding for the Title VII HCOP diversity pipeline program would ensure that more than 12,000 trainees, including underrepresented minorities, veterans, and other individuals from disadvantaged backgrounds, receive training to pursue a health professional career.¹ HCOP is the only federal pipeline program for minority and disadvantaged students who want to become health professionals. At a time when the nation is growing and becoming increasingly diverse, it is crucial that we enhance the federal commitment to programs that prepare the next generation of health professionals for the health care challenges of a changing population.

The Title VII and Title VIII programs help shape the workforce in targeted ways, such as promoting interprofessional, team-based care; promoting service in underserved areas; and filling other gaps in the health care workforce. We appreciate that both the House and Senate Appropriations Committees proposed shifting the Behavioral Health Workforce and Education Training Program from the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration to HRSA. Shifting these funds, and not at the expense of other Title VII and Title VIII programs, to HRSA will better align the other mental and behavioral health programs that operate under Title VII authority.

As you work towards a final budget agreement, it is crucial that we enhance the federal commitment to the programs that equip the next generation of health professionals to keep up with the increasing health care challenges of a changing population.

Sincerely,
